THEME  Program schedule and speaker bios will be available online at UNPsychologyday.com	         Currently there is a global increase in nationalist movements, anti-immigrant sentiments, xenophobia and intolerance in many parts of the world. These trends are impacting attitudes towards the United Nations and the concept of Multilateralism upon which it is based. This year, 2020, is the 75th anniversary of the United Nations and is an important opportunity for governments to reaffirm their commitment to the UN Charter. Psychology at the UN can contribute to understanding the challenges to Multilateralism such as xenophobia and anti-immigrant sentiments, as well as facilitate international cooperation. The Psychology Day Program will consist of a panel of experts from cross-cultural, social and health psychology. They will discuss psychological research on challenges as well as facilitating international collaboration to tackle public health crises such as the global pandemic of COVID-19.                 Speakers will include:        <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Dr Fathali Moghaddam      Professor of Psychology Georgetown University</li> <li>• Dr Michele Gelfand        Professor of Psychology University of Maryland</li> <li>• Dr. Sarah Lyons-Padilla    UX Researcher, Tech Industry</li> <li>• Dr Susan Michie            Professor Health Psychology University College London, UK</li> </ul>
